

A parameter: the variable distance that represents the input of the method

An argument: the number 100 that is passed to the method square: